On the 1st of August 2022, the first-year PG students of 3D Animation were welcomed into the family of KAUSHAL KENDRA. As per the Loyola tradition, the first day began with an orientation program at VISCOM Block - 3rd Floor and Prof. Roderick was the anchor.

Prof. Malini, Director welcomed the students with great joy and wished them success in all their academic endeavors spanning two years. The students were then taken through a PowerPoint presentation by Prof. Roderick on the vision and mission of Loyola College. The students were informed about the ethos, rules and regulations of Loyola College and the features of the department.

The students had an opportunity to interact with Mr. Ebenezer, a distinguished alumnus of the department, who shared his journey of being a fresh postgraduate to how the department had moulded him into a person of great knowledge, skills, and values. He encouraged the students to work on their academics and career growth synchronously by developing a portfolio that will showcase their domain skills, and soft skills in order to grab their dream jobs.

The students were then addressed by the professors who were more than happy to welcome the students into the department. They explained the core skills needed for the subjects and their expectations of students. The credit system followed by the college, the importance of regular attendance and the most important requirement of prompt submission of assignments and projects were also clearly explained to the students.

The students were then invited to introduce themselves and share about their skills and strengths with the new group. The session really helped the new students understand their new roles and responsibilities as post-graduate students. The orientation ended with a feedback session during which the students expressed that they were deeply convinced of their personal as well as the institution's vision and mission. Above all, they felt proud to join the company of Loyolites.
