CURRICULUM FRAMEWORK (LOCF) FOR UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMMES

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY

LOYOLA COLLEGE (AUTONOMOUS)

PREFACE

Sociology is one of the most fascinating disciplines in social sciences where sociologists offer theories to examine the social world that we live in and test them with systematic observation. They also deconstruct the existing explanation of society to transform society for the betterment of all, especially the disadvantaged and the marginalised. The department encourages the students to read and reflect on, and hopefully critique, the social structure, institutions, and interaction that both enable and restrict humankind.

The Sociology Department at Loyola College, Chennai, established in 1983, offers the students the opportunity and environment to engage with a plurality of ideas and major debates in social sciences. The undergraduate programme is unique, incorporating the essential theoretical inputs together with immersive learning/village & tribal studies, industrial visits and mini-research studies/projects as practical components. Additionally, students will be required to pursue internship and fieldwork which would complement the future course of their career development and academic pursuits.

The Learning outcome-based curriculum framework for the B.A. degree in Sociology seeks to impart a strong foundational introduction to enable the students academically, while at the same time mould them into useful members of society. By incorporating reflective learning and a critical pedagogical approach, this curriculum promotes the holistic growth of the students. This LOCF of B.A. Sociology will also help the students to pursue their goals in higher education and also in their personal life at large.

The curriculum, teaching pedagogy and assessment methods are aligned with appropriate cognitive levels as per BLOOM's taxonomy. The OBE based evaluation methods will pave way for the assessment of cognitive levels of the students and evaluate the expected course outcome attainment.
