

First Book Club Meet

The book club of Loyola College "Liber Amantes" had its very first meet on August 30, 2019. The proposed theme for the discussion was Romanticism. It was held in the beautiful park of the college surrounded by trees and flowers befitting the theme, next to St. Ignatius' Statue. The meeting was held under the guidance of Dr. Arockia Anto Anita, the faculty in-charge of this Book Club. Prof. Ranjith began the meeting with a welcome note. Washington gave a detailed introduction to the theme Romanticism. Anurag Shukhla presented the theme with regard to the women writings of the age. Ashwinkumar Kispotta did an analysis of Ozymandias by P.B. Shelley. Washington concluded it with an analysis of two Keats poems.
