

Ovations 2019

The inter departmental cultural extravaganza of Loyola college: Ovations 2019 began on September 5. The off stage events rangoli and face painting marked the beginning of the competitions. The theme of ovations for this year was "Solidarity of Euphony - Harmony among the society". The students of the department of English gave their best this time by participating for almost all events. Their hard work and dedication proved that participation is better than winning on one hand while on the other hand, they established how true effort can yield fruitful results by winning in 2 offstage events namely potpourri and street theatre. While a three member team secured second prize in potpourri, for the second consecutive year the department won third prize in street theatre. Ovations 2k19 was not just an exposure to culturals, it was a wonderful experience for many students. First year PG students and second year UG students displayed greater interest and better participation among all other classes. Hence ovations 2k19 was the joint effort of the entire department which came to an end on September 21st.

Rangoli drawn by the students of the Department of English

Students performance in street theatre

Our mime team