About the Event:

Loyola Institution's Innovation Council was established with a vision to be a centre of excellence in providing ambience for innovative thinking to grow into product ideas that lead to start-ups and entrepreneurship ventures. Government of India has established MHRD innovation council to systematically foster the culture of innovation. LIIC inspires and encourages young students by supporting them to work on new ideas and nurture them to become a reality.

"NEP on Innovation & Entrepreneurship" was a webinar conducted through Zoom on February 16th, 2021, the focus of this lecture was to discuss and deliberate various aspects of NEP that are associated with Innovation and Entrepreneurship.

LOYOLA INSTITUTION'S INNOVATION COUNCIL (LIIC)

LOYOLA COLLEGE (AUTONOMOUS), CHENNAI – 600 034.

Mr M. Sathya Kumar- an entrepreneur, educationalist, renowned speaker and Economic & Tax Law Advisor, founder of Swami Vivekananda School of public policy and Tycoon Academy, was the resource person for the day.

Mr M. Sathya Kumar's keynote address was very informative and thought provoking. He started by pointing out the benefits and the short comings of the British education system. After explaining the various changes in the NEP such as the three-language policy, Bachelor of Liberal Arts & Science (BLAS) and many others, he also shared his strong ideology and perspectives on these changes. He believes that the new changes brought about will promote innovative thinking, which is what makes you a successful leader.

On completion of his address, we moved on to the next session of question and answers. Students asked pragmatic questions and had a great interesting and informative interaction. Mr M. Sathya Kumar seeded the idea that change will come only when you become the leader, and to effectively utilise the changes in policy instead of getting carried away with propaganda. Thus, the event to an end. Education is the key to innovation and thus a policy on education is a relevant point of discussion – This was the take away from the webinar.
