OWNING OUR FUTURE: A REPORT ON THE INVITED TALK

The Department of Commerce organized an invited talk on the topic “Owing Our Future” on 25th January, 2023. The lecture was delivered by Mr. Andrew Injodev (CPA, CA, MBA), President and CEO of Peto MacCullam Ltd. Toronto, Ontario. He is an illustrious alumnus of Loyola with a career spanning over a decade. He shared valuable inputs about his professional journey over these years and the efforts taken by him in proving his calibre and the success he achieved to reach this position.

He said that the true source of knowledge comes from experience and one should be observant of the facts that are happening in and around the world. The competitive world embraces only the person who proves himself and who strives to achieve beyond his boundaries. The speech gave the audience a wonderful opportunity to sharpen one’s cognitive drive.

The statement that has an impact, mostly on the students is ‘the future’. Though it is a simple statement, to achieve the same, one must walk miles together to reach goals and ambition. The students were mentally stimulated by the informative and interactive session. The session was blended equally with learning and interaction. He completed his speech by advising, “Don’t look into your past, but just move on try to start your today, and don’t wait for tomorrow”. The students of B. Com. final year were present and the session was well-coordinated by Dr. Sridevi Saravanan.
